

No. This is a specialist service for adults from 18 years upwards. Children require a different set of skills and knowledge and we would recommend you contact a specialist children's service.